FAVORITE LOST IN THREE-HORSE RACE

Public's Selection Was Beaten by an Extreme Outsider in the Feature at Delmar.

LADAS WON RACE VERY EASILY.

Leenja Was Well Ridden by Hou brie and Won Four-Horse Event -Barnacle, Badly Ridden, Should Have Won.

As is always the rule in such affairs, the outsider won and the favorite ran last in the three-horse handicap at Delmar yester-Tickful, the odds-on favorite, was Navarino, the 4-to-1 outsider, wasfirst. Found, the 2-to-1 second choice, was Tickful and Found went to the front and ran nose and nose for seven furlongs. Scully rated Navarino behind them. The leaders tired at the stretch entry. Tickful was first to give way. Bonner foolishly went to the but on Found and she quit. Scully gave Navarino a strong ride and the chestnut horse won at his ease.

Leenja, well-ridden by Houbre, who took no chances, won the four-horse race. She led all the way under restraint. Houbre took no chances, but drove her in the stretch and won handsomely. Branch, the outsider, was second. Blue Mint, who was all but even choice with Leenja, finished third. Bonner gave Blue Mint a bad ride indeed. El Caney was last. He was stiff and sore and ran a race far below his best Tommy O'Brien gave another of his beautiful exhibitions of jockeyship in the first He was left at the post on Barnacle in a flying start, everybody, including Barnacle, being off running. Somehow he got her left, then took after the field, crossrode her, let her swerve out in the stretch and was beaten a neck. She should have won a block. Easy Trade, off in front, won won a block. Easy Trade, off in front, won under Houbre, who put it all over O'Brien at the finish. Ladas won the second easily. There was a plunge on Deponan. Dean got this horse off weil, but he found his legs hurt him and stopped at the three-eighths. He came again under a drive and managed to get third money. Fred Hessig ran an extra good race into second place.

Foundling, backed heavily at evens, won the fifth race in a lucky manner. Had Dean not managed to get Glenwood cut off twice in the race and pinned on the rail in the stretch, McCarren's horse would have won. Cionsilla and Reducer were even choices at 2 to 1 in the last race. Clonsilla was under O'Brien and off last of course. Luckily the start was good and the field well bunched. Clonsilla under a very bad ride went all around the lot, came fast in the stretch and won by a head from Reducer. Earl gave the latter all kinds of a weak finish, changed hands three or four times on the whip and reins, let the horse swerve and had him disqualified for foul. Inasmuch as the brute came from behind Kiss Quick and Duela and ran away from them, the disqualification seemed to come more in the nature of a punishment than as a rectification of a wrong, as Reducer was clearly second best of the first four.

AS A BETTING PROPOSITION.

Avoid Looks Like a Sure Winner-Frank Bullock Should Be First. Avoid seems to be in a soft spot in the first race to-day. Though Flash of Night has shown speed, Avoid seems to have her outclassed. Goudy will like the distance and will be the horse they have got to On a fast track Mada Bell is going to win a race some time. She has not very much to beat in the second race and should win. Vici Vance looks like the contender. The Phoenician is in where he can win With anybody in the world but O'Brien on him Frank Bullock will win the third race. Lazarrae is right in her element and will have a good chance to get the mone; if O'Brien rides Bullock. Two Lick is a good filly, and if ready, may upset all cal calculations in this race.

Unless Joe Doughty is prepared for the handicap in a proper manner and carries his sides in soap suds Beana will win easily. Doughty was not at his best last time out and ran a bad race. He is taking off weight to-day and will be hard to beat if he is properly "prepared."

Eugenia S. is at her best. She may win to-day. Her last race was a good one and she will improve upon it. Deponan had his work yesterday and will probably win to-day. He likes a route and is a better horse than he has shown. The Russian will show though Saragamp ran a good race last time out as far as the mile.

Let a St. Louis citizen tell of her cure. Miss G. Punshon, housekeeper, 4512 Easton ave. says: "Advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills by a friend; in fact, given a few to try. I went to the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. for a box. For several months my back ached, sometimes severely. At times my temperature indicated a fever; my breath was hot, and there was an unpleasant taste in my mouth. The treatment stopped pain in my back and in other ways improved my health. I think it is right to recommend a preparation which does exactly what is claimed for it."

Start good. Won easily; second same. Winner, O. W. Boardman's ch. f., 4. by Abans-Bonnie Lass. Ladas was much the best and was never fully extended. Hessig ran a good rabe and was well ridden. Deponan, off flying in front, propped at the turn and lost ground, but came under the whip in the stretch and caught Hazel Hughlett stopping. Hughlett had speed, but stopped. Yellowstone was very hadly ridden; she can do much better.

Time—12, 244, 28, 488, 102, 1:159, 1:294.

PROGRAMME OUT

First-Class Set of Events Are All Planned for First Week-Train Schedule Arranged.

The programme for the first week of the Kinloch Park Jockey Club meeting, which opens on Thursday, August 14, was issued yesterday, and all the horsemen were more than pleased with the schedule of events presented by Racing Secretary Clem Creveling. All of them expressed their readiness to participate in a meeting in which all the purse races and handicaps are free.

The book shows twenty-two open and nine conditional races and five handicaps for the week representing an outlay in purses of $14,950

On the first day there will be a six-furlong race in which several crack stake horses and selling platers will be brought together at weights that will make it one of the best sprint events seen in St. Louis for a long time.

The 2-year-old race on the same day lets all classes in at a fair allotment of weights and will bring together some of the best horses from Chicago and St. Louis stables. The Busch Handicap, for $1,000, will also be run on the opening day, and many of the Chicago owners are expected to try for the prize. The other races on the opening day are selling events from six furlongs to mile and seventy yards. On the second day there will be four selling and two condition races; on the third day two selling races, a maiden 2-year-old race, a steeplechase over the short course and the Southern Hotel Handicap, for $1,000; on the fourth day, four selling races, a condition race, six furlongs and mile handicap; the fifth day, three selling races, two condition races and the Bratton Steeplechase Handicap over the short course; and on the sixth day there will be four selling and two purse races, one of which is for all ages at six furlongs.

Deep interest is manifested by the members of the Country Club's polo players and other gentlemen riders of St. Louis in the special gentlemen's race to be run on Friday. August 22. The winner of the the special gentlemen's race to be run on Priday. August 22. The winner of the event will be presented with a handsome cup valued at $300. The rider of the second horse will receive a valuable bridle, and the third a whip. They will ride at forty pounds over the scale.

Starter Jake Holtman, who is a St. Louis boy, will arrive here Tuesday morning from Zanesville, O., and Starter Dwyer will be here on August 18. Presiding Judge Hopper will be in St. Louis Tuesday to assign the weights in the Busch handicap, which will be run on the opening day.

The management of Kinloch yesterday completed arrangements with the Wabash Railway to transport the public to and from the track. Trains will leave Unign Station at 1:15 p. m., 1:45 p. m., 2:45 p. m. daily, and on Saturdays an additional train will leave at 1:29 p. m. Trains will also leave the foot of Olive street at 11 a. m., 1:20 p. m., 1:55 p. m. and 4:15 p. m. The average running time to and from the track will be thirty minutes.

Special arrangements have been made to have the 1:15 train stop at De Hodiamont every day for the benefit of owners stabling at Delmar track.

Everything at the course is in shape for the meeting. The track and grandstand has been put in good shape.

STEMWINDER WON ALL THE WAY. Captured the Youngsters' Stakes at Harlem in Fast Time of :59 4-5. Chicago, Aug. 7.—Steinwinder, third choice in the betting, won 'he Youngstern' Stakes, for 2-year-olds at five furlangs today at Harlem in the fast time of $2.4-5, which is within 2-5 of a second of the mark r-cord. Stemwinder led all he way by nearly three lengths. At the end, however, he was quitting bally, and barely lasted long enough to win by a head from the fast coming Collonade. Sidney C. Love was third, four lengths away.

Only one favorite won, the other events going to second and third choices. Weather perfect; track fast. Summaries:

JANOWSKI AGAIN IN THE LEAD. Mieses and Dropped Behind.

Hanover, Aug. 7.—The chess masters engaged in the international tournament here met in the fourteenth round this morning, being paired as follows: Cohn vs. Mason, Gottschall vs. Swiderski, Tschigorin vs. Popiel, Pillsbury vs. Mieses, Janowski vs. Olland, Bardeleben vs. Marshall, Napier vs. Wolf. Atkins vs. Gunsberg, Levin vs. Suechting.

Olland, Bardeleben vs. Marshall, Napler vs. Wolf, Atkins vs. Gunsberg, Levin vs. Succhting.

Six of the vine games were concluded during the morning session. Tschigorin and Atkins were the only players to score victories. Pillsbury drew a well-contested game with Mieses and took the lead by half a point, pending the conclusion of Janows-kl's game with Olland, which was adjourned in an even position. Marshall could do no better than to draw with Barde.eben. while the same result was achieved by Cohn and Mason and Levin and Succhting. In the afternoon session Janowski overcame Olland's sturdy defense and scored the point necessary to place him in the lead ahead of Pillsbury.

Napler won a fine game from Wolf, and Gottschall drew with Swiderski.

Uncle Cyrus Denton Young got "his" yesterday, and got it in one big allopathic dose that sent him to the bench after one strenyour inning. Not before this season has Cy been so rudely jostled as he was yesterday by the Browns in a way that reminded some of the veteran fans of old days in the National League, when the Ohio rail splitter was bumped with regularity. It took the Browns just seventeen minutes to win that game from Boston. The game was "in" at the end of the first inning, when big Cy mopped his heated brow, retreated to the St. Louis bench, and studied the big 6, which the score boy hung on the bulletin board. Of course, the customary nine innings were played, but after the Browns had fired the opening salute, the Bostonians gult. The Browns played ball all around Bos-Not an error was made until the eighth inning, when Bobby Wallace piled up three in the hope that the visitors would gain courage and make a close finish. The agonizing defeat of Wednesday still stands on the League records, but yesterday's game took the sting out of that defeat. Resurrection of Heldrick.

The most gratifying feature of the game was the performance of a certain party was the performance of a certain party who figured largely in Wednesday's splut ter finish. With his optic once more glued on the ball, J. Emmett Heidrick appeared in the midst of the red fire and smoke as the center piece in a tablgau entitled "The Awakening." Heidrick's return to the ranks of the sluggers was far and away the most promising performance he has given this year, and was a tabaseo article from the time that he bunted out a two-bagger until he wound up with his second triple of the day. Up five times, "Butts" killed the ball four times. Two of his efforts were doubles and the other two threeforts were doubles and the other two three-base hits. He scored one-third of the twelve runs. Surely a little honest criticism did no harm in his case. But after he had reruns. Surely a little honest criticism did no harm in his case. But after he had redeemed himself more than one fan sald to his neighbor: "Any one of those would have done the business yesterday."

At no time have the Browns had better pennant prospects. The game they put up behind Frank Donahue yesterday made the disciples of Collins look like second raters. Most encouraging of all is the way the front end of the batting list is killing the ball. Burkett got only one hit yesterday, but he showed as a run getter. Charley Hemphill worked in one vicious swat that would have aroused the stands to freuzy had it been made Wednesday.

From the time that Burkett mowed the outfield lawn, as a starter for St. Louis, the Browns carried things with a high hand. All the way from consomme to finger bowls it was a feast on the good things dished up by Cy. Young and Frank Sparks, the ex-Giant. The men from the Hub worked in a run at the start, and but for that could have been shut out, for the three runs in the eighth were in the nature of donations.

have been shut out, for the three runs in the eighth were in the nature of donations. Donahue loosened up a bit, and Wallace showed the spectators that it is possible for him to make misplays. Young Lasts But One Inning. A story of the first mning is a story of the game. Of course runs were scored in subsequent innings, but that was after the visitors had tucked away all hopes of a victory and were simply playing out the nine innings. One or two of them quit cold, notably Lou Criger, who was so broken-hearted over the cruel treatment of his old battery partner that he refused to chase a ball that got away from him. That case of cold feet gave Heldrick his third run.

The prospect of a pitchers' battle between Young and Donahue drew a good crowd, though not as large as the Wednesday gathering. Poor Cy couldn't hold up his end of it long. It rained hits while he occupied the box, and the Hubbites helped with a pair of errors after they saw the Grand Old Man 20 to pieces on the rocks. Eleven of the Browns faced Young in the opening essay.

Burkett shot a single between Colling and say. Burkett shot a single between Collins and Burkett shot a single between Collins and Parent as a starter. Then came Heidrick's two-base bunt, the scratchiest two-baseger that was ever registered and given a pedigree in a box score. J. Emmett lifted his bat for a sacrifice and popped up a fly over toward first. It looked like another spell of frost, but Lachance was playing off the bag. The ball was barely out of his range, but it dropped safe in shallow right field, and before Lachance could capture it Heidrick was safe on second. Hemphili walked and the bases were crowded, with noboly down—exactly the same condition of affairs that existed in the ninth inning of Wednesday's game. But such a different ending. Anderson's short fly fell safe in center and Burkett scored. Stahl shot the ball to Collins as Heidrick was aprinting for the plate, and the latter pinked J. Emmett on the cibow with his throw to the blate. While Criger was chasing the clusive leather Hemphili and Anderson each advanced a base.

Hemphili and Anderson each advanced a base.

Wallace couldn't get the ball out of the infield, but Criger was accommodating. On Rhody's tap to Young, Hemphili made a dash for the plate, and Cy tossed to Criger, but the catcher muffed the assist, and Hemphili's silde counted a run. McCormick made the first out after these three runs had been counted, by retiring on strikes. Colonel "Payden" exercised Stahl with a plunk to center, and Anderson raced home. "Chick's" throw came clear in to the pitcher, and Padden swiped an extra base, also Wallace. Kahoe planted a geranium in front of Dougherty's doorsten, and before the curty-headed youth could dig it up both Wallace and Padden had scored. Just to encourage Young, Kahoe stole second. Donahue fouled to Criger.

Sparks Replaces Young.

When Burkett came up for the second

Sparks Replaces Young.

When Burkett came up for the second time Uncle Cy was puffing like a porpolse. He couldn't see the plate for the perspiration that was streaming down his face, and Burkett skated to first on four-ball rollers. Heidrick refused to break the rules of the union by making more than one hit in an inning, and he grounded to Parent, who forced Burkett at second for the third out. Then Cy backed up to the bench and took a seat, from which he didn't move until the game was over. Sparks pitched the remained of the same.

With the Browns so far in the lead it took plays like Hemphill's home run and Heidrick's extra hase hits to stir up any excitement. But the Boston'ans found plenty of things to object to. It must be admitted that Umpire Johnstone made sorge decisions that a blind man could have improved on. He was doing the work behind the bat, and though be handed the Browns a few raw case, there was little kicking because of the superfluity of Boston horse collars on the score board.

Besides pitching in excellent form, Frank Donahue put a ton of fat on his batting average by cracking out two hits. The first of these came like a package of money from home, and resulted in a ludicrous mix-up that ended in the banishment from the grounds of Captain Jimmy Collins, Donahue's hit was a stort fly to left. Dougherty raced in and trapped the ball on the ground. From where the umpires were standing it was hardly possible to judge whether Dougherty caught the ball or the impact of the ball forced his hands to the turf, but he came up with the leather in his grasp. Donahue didn't know whether to stay on first or retire. He turned to Carruthers, who motioned him to the bench.

Differences of Opinion.

But up at the home plate Judge Johnstone delivered a verbal dissenting opinion, and, as he was the boss of the game, it went. He decided that Dougherty had trapped the bail, and Donahue remained on first. Then the Boston players surrounded Johnstone. Collins cast too many verbal bouquets and was served with a bench warrant. He was arrested by Deputy Jesse Burkett, and after hurling a few more unprintable adjectives at the umpire was told to take his clothes and go. Gleason took his place. In the seventh inning Donahue again singled, and that brought his average for the day up to a figure that he seldom attains.

Aside from Heidrick's hitting, Boston's misplays and Wailace's great work in pilling up errors, the remainder of the game was of little interest. In the fourth inning Heidrick tripled to center and scored on Anderson's fly to Freeman. After Donahue's hit in the sixth inning Burkett waiked, and both scored on Heidrick's line drive to right for three bases. Freeman threw home, and the ball bounded nicely, but Criger quit coid after he had stuck up one hand and failed to stop the throw. He walked after the ball while Heidrick irolted home. In the eighth Heidrick led off with a double. Hemphili smashed the ball to center, far over Stahi's head. The ball continued to the old carriage gate on Grand svenue, and Hemphili trotted around the sacks. It was one of the longest hits of the season on the local grounds.
